DOTILDA · BY README.CLUB

A journal born on e-ink. For any Android.

One small question a day. Your answer becomes a dot in your year.

PRINCIPLE 01

One question a day.

At the hour you choose, Dotilda asks one small question. Under two minutes, then the rest of the day is yours again.

PRINCIPLE 02

A line is plenty.

Write a line, pick a word, choose tea or coffee, or just tell her the weather inside. Every answer is a dot.

A LINE
The smell of warm bread on the way home.

A WORD
Golden

THIS OR THAT Tea

THE WEATHER INSIDE
Mostly fine, a cloud or two.

PRINCIPLE 03

Miss a day? Nothing breaks.

No streak, no red, no guilt. An empty day is a tiny grey dot, a breath in the grid.

“There you are. Your sky kept your place.”

PRINCIPLE 04

Yours alone.

Nothing about you leaves the phone. Even our usage numbers are GitHub’s public download counters.

PRINCIPLE 05

Calm on any screen.

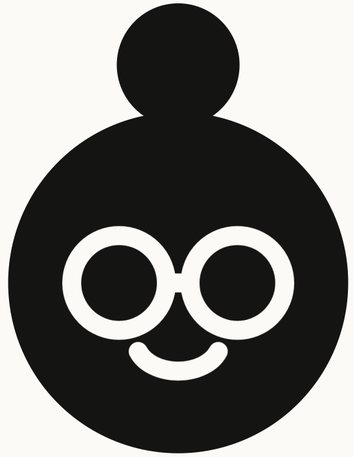

Born on e-ink: pure black on white, large type, no scrolling, no animation. Restful on any Android 11+ phone, tablet or e-reader.

PRINCIPLE 06

Free, for good.

No purchase, no subscription, no ads. Open source under Apache 2.0. Made by LesWWW for readme.club.
